Title: The Roles of Islamic Organizations on Countermeasures COVID-19 Pandemic in Indonesia

Journal: Heliyon

Dear Mr. Nurmansyah,

Thank you for submitting your manuscript to Heliyon.

We have completed the review of your manuscript and a summary is appended below. The reviewers recommend major revisions are required before publication can be considered.

If you are able to address all reviewer comments in full, I invite you to resubmit your manuscript. We ask that you respond to each reviewer comment by either outlining how the criticism was addressed in the revised manuscript or by providing a rebuttal to the criticism. This should be carried out in a point-by-point fashion as illustrated here:

<https://www.cell.com/heliyon/guide-for-authors#Revisions>

To allow the editors and reviewers to easily assess your revised manuscript, we also ask that you upload a version of your manuscript highlighting any revisions made. You may wish to use Microsoft Word's Track Changes tool or, for LaTeX files, the latexdiff Perl script (<https://ctan.org/pkg/latexdiff>).

To submit your revised manuscript, please log in as an author at <https://www.editorialmanager.com/heliyon/>, and navigate to the "Submissions Needing Revision" folder. Your revision due date is Jan 03, 2021.

We understand that the global COVID-19 situation may well be causing disruption for you and your colleagues. If that is the case for you and it has an impact on your ability to make revisions to address the concerns that came up in the review process, please let us know so we can discuss with you potential revision deadline extensions. Please also note that Heliyon focuses on technically correct science and so you are only expected to include revisions that are necessary to ensure that the content and the conclusions of the research are technically correct.

I look forward to receiving your revised manuscript.

Kind regards,
P. Vigneswara Ilavarasan, PhD
Section Editor

Editor and Reviewer comments:

Reviewer #1: Methods:

- the number of the samples is not clear
- The location of the interviews is not clear
- It is not clear whether the interviews were face-to-face or online
- Triangulation is not clear
- It is not clear whether the data were manually analyzed or the authors used a software for the data analysis

Results:

- Need quotes of the participants
- Need to mention which information was derived from the document analysis
- The themes are not consistent
- Need sub themes
- Need some more explanation/exploration/clarification in some themes

Interpretation:

- Need more in-depth discussion
- Need to highlight the contribution of the findings to current knowledge.

Other comments:

- The background is not strong enough to support the need of the study
- The knowledge gap is not clear
- The significant of the study is not clear.

Reviewer #2: Methods:

The methodology isn't clear. Even the data collection procedures wasn't briefly discussed. The overall methodology section is poorly described. The respondent selection was truly purposive and all the respondents were from the organizational side, it would be great if they could include some beneficiaries. The reason I am concerned about the inclusion criteria are potentials for misinterpreting the results on the organizational activities regarding COVID-19.

Results:

The result of this study is poorly organized. The themes identified and described aren't clear. The whole result part seems the description of all the activities organizations are doing.

Interpretation:*Other comments:

Data in Brief (optional):

We invite you to convert your supplementary data (or a part of it) into an additional journal publication in Data in Brief, a multi-disciplinary open access journal. Data in Brief articles are a fantastic way to describe supplementary data and associated metadata, or full raw datasets deposited in an external repository, which are otherwise unnoticed. A Data in Brief article (which will be reviewed, formatted, indexed, and given a DOI) will make your data easier to find, reproduce, and cite.

You can submit to Data in Brief when you upload your revised manuscript. To do so, complete the template and follow the co-submission instructions found here: www.elsevier.com/dib-template. If your manuscript is accepted, your Data in Brief submission will automatically be transferred to Data in Brief for editorial review and publication.

Please note: an open access Article Publication Charge (APC) is payable by the author or research funder to cover the costs associated with publication in Data in Brief and ensure your data article is immediately and permanently free to access by all. For the current APC see: www.elsevier.com/journals/data-in-brief/2352-3409/open-access-journal

Editor and Reviewer comments:

Reviewer #1: Methods:

How many informants were individually interviewed? who were they?

How many focus groups were carried out? and how many informants were in each group? who were they?

How did the author justify the adequacy of the number of informants in the study?

How did the author use reflexivity during the research process?

Results:

Much improved and clear enough

No further comments.

Interpretation:

Need more discussion about how the enablers and barriers might influence the programs/activities carried out by those 2 FBOs in mitigating COVID-19 outbreak in Indonesia? The author may include theories or compare the results to other similar studies' findings.

Need further elaboration for the significance of the study.

Other comments:

The knowledge gap and the urgency of the study are still not clear, for example whether this is the first study in Indonesia exploring the potencies, challenges, and activities of 2 FBOs? and after having an overview about the role of those 2 FBOs in mitigating COVID-19 outbreak in Indonesia, what benefits can the Indonesian government get from the findings? In conclusion, the author need to the results: what was the role of those 2 FBOs in mitigating COVID-19 in Indonesia as well as the enablers and barriers?

Dear Mr. Nurmansyah,

We have now received all of the reviewers' comments on your recent submission to Heliyon.

The reviewers have advised that your manuscript should become suitable for publication in our journal after appropriate revisions.

If you are able to address the reviewers' comments, which you can find below, I would like to invite you to revise and resubmit your manuscript. We ask that you respond to each reviewer comment by either outlining how the criticism was addressed in the revised manuscript or by providing a rebuttal to the criticism. This should be carried out in a point-by-point fashion as illustrated here: <https://www.cell.com/heliyon/guide-for-authors#Revisions>

To allow the editors and reviewers to easily assess your revised manuscript, we also ask that you upload a version of your manuscript highlighting any revisions made. I look forward to receiving your revised manuscript.

Kind regards,

Laura Salisbury
Editorial Assistant
Heliyon

Editor and Reviewer comments:

Reviewer #1: Methods:

-There are a wide range of purposive sampling techniques. I suggest the author(s) to mention the specific purposive sampling technique used. Considering the key informants interviewed in this study, expert sampling may be appropriate.
- The author(s) should explain if there was a specific content analysis approach that the author(s) followed during the data analysis, for example from Graneheim and Lundman.

Results:

No further comments

Interpretation:

No further comments

Other comments:

In conclusion section, the author(s) should also briefly explain the main findings of the study that address the research questions/objectives

Reviewer #3:

Selamat pagi guru. Tre makasi for the opportunity of reading your draft manuscript.

Strengths

Indonesia has been particularly hit hard by the Covid pandemic and primary data stemming from Indonesia, specifically on mitigation, pastoral and health challenges is a crucial contribution to both local and international thinking about the matter. Clearly, in such a strongly Islamic nation, FBO action in this space is worthy of study. Given the nature of the organisations and their delivery of care a qualitative investigation is an appropriate method to explore and analyse the topic. This article is important and I urge the authors to persist with developing its contribution to knowledge. That being said, there are a number of substantive issues with the manuscript that need to be addressed before it should be considered worthy of publication.

Major issues.

1. The quality of the written English is not good enough for publication. This work must be revised by professional English writing services to be of sufficient quality to be published. I would need to do the same to be published in Bahasa Indonesia.
2. The method needs to be clear about what it is trying to achieve and how the participants chosen provide relevant information that informs the findings. It is not clear to an international reader how the participants chosen relate to and can provide insight into the two Islamic organisations.
3. The findings are not organised in a systematic way which allows for the discussion to develop an overall structured assessment of the strengths and challenges faced by Islamic FBOs in providing pastoral, welfare, health care to their communities. No comparative analysis of the two organisations is offered, rather they seem to meld together.
4. The discussion returns to a literature review rather than developing a analytic for understanding the Indonesian case studies, the implications for Indonesian, and any broader general findings for an international audience thinking about the role and challenges facing FBOs when it comes to this pandemic.
5. Looking through 1-4 together, I feel that the article tends towards the descriptive rather than the analytical and I am left wondering what the contribution and overall outcomes of the article are. More work needs to be taken to weave this throughout the entire article.

Minor issues.

1. Given the challenges that Indonesia has faced with Covid-19 in 2021. I would like to see the statistics in the first paragraph on page 1 updated.
2. On page 2, you state 'on the other hand.' There is no 'On the one hand' preceding this sentence.
3. The article consistently refers to 'potencies' as an analytical term. What is meant by this term? I would like to see a clear definition.
4. In the materials and methods section,
5. In section 3.1 what are the three quotes showing? Its not clear how they advance the findings. In general, I find this is the case with all the quotations.
6. The quote and description of the Car of Covid 19 care section is repetitive and does not clearly make an analytical point.

Data in Brief (optional):

We invite you to convert your supplementary data (or a part of it) into an additional journal publication in Data in Brief, a multi-disciplinary open access journal. Data in Brief articles are a fantastic way to describe supplementary data and associated metadata, or full raw datasets deposited in an external repository, which are otherwise unnoticed. A Data in Brief article (which will be reviewed, formatted, indexed, and given a DOI) will make your data easier to find, reproduce, and cite.

You can submit to Data in Brief when you upload your revised manuscript. To do so, complete the template and follow the co-submission instructions found here: www.elsevier.com/dib-template. If your manuscript is accepted, your Data in Brief submission will automatically be transferred to Data in Brief for editorial review and publication.

Please note: an open access Article Publication Charge (APC) is payable by the author or research funder to cover the costs associated with publication in Data in Brief and ensure your data article is immediately and permanently free to access by all. For the current APC see: www.elsevier.com/journals/data-in-brief/2352-3409/open-access-journal
